Practice in pledge to charity

A SWANSEA dentist is hoping to bring smiles to Cancer Research Wales.

Darren Owakee has pledged to donate £500 to the charity to mark the opening of his new practice on Glanmor Road in Sketty.

The dentist has also confirmed he will make an additional donation for each patient to join the practice until the end of August.

Mr Owakee will be opening the doors of his state-of-the-art surgery to the public on Friday.

He said: "At the heart of our modern new dental surgery is a friendly team with great patients, so as part of our growth as a team and a practice, we are keen to help charities whose issues affect the community.

"Sadly, most people know of someone who has been affected by cancer, so as a team we are happy to join forces to raise money and support this deserving charity."
